My dear Patrick,

To keep you in touch, I attach a further exchange between Geoffrey Tucker and myself about his World Environmental Conference. I would be very glad to know whether you have heard anything further about this from Rodric Braithwaite. It would also be interesting to have Bryan Cartledge's view of whether this project is likely to take off.

Subject to these enquiries and to Geoffrey Tucker's reply to my letter, I have had in mind to bring the proposed post to the attention of any retiring civil servant who may be interested, but leave it to such people to approach Geoffrey Tucker rather than put names forward myself.

I am copying this letter and the enclosures to Terry Heiser and Charles Powell.

Yours ever,

Robin

Many thanks for your letter of 8 May about your search for a Director General for the British Committee of the World Environmental Conference.

If you would be kind enough to send me a job description and a summary of the terms, I should be glad to see whether a retiring civil servant would be interested in it. I take it that the job you are referring to is the one which, in your original note, you were hoping Mr John Morgan would undertake. What has happened to him?
